THEORETICAL

As a researcher I need a "simple project",
I collected a lot of research papers in my field and it was easy for me at first to get content from any paper I want, but now I have a huge papers and it became really hard to search in every file by myself.
What I want is a simple screen with search input to put my search "statement" and show me the top ten related research papers. Notice that I don't care about the search paper title , I care about the content, it's like Google but for my papers.
